River Stopover of Saint-Mammès

SAINT-MAMMÈS

Saint-Mammès is situated at the confluence of the Seine and Loing Rivers 80 kilometers upstream from Paris. The identity of the town was shaped by inland waterway transport, and while that activity is of lesser economic importance than in the past, it remains present today in the original urban structure and the privileged place of nautical activities.

TO SEE

The church (11th century), the old lock (1724), the lock keeper's house (18th century), the many narrow streets and alleys, the nautical jousts.

TO DO

Weekly sunday market on the banks of the Seine, strolling along the quais, guided tours of the town, the "World of Barges" walk, the Barge World Museum (with reservation).

MORET-SUR-LOING

One hour from Paris, at the border between the Île-de-France and Burgundy regions, Moret-sur-Loing is a medieval fortified town from the 12th century preserving within its walls the traces of its glorious history as a royal city with cathedral, castle keep, ramparts and fortified gates. Bathed by the waters of the Loing, Moret is ideal for a pastoral stroll.

TO SEE

The ramparts, the bridge (12th century), the tanbark mill, the Notre-Dame cathedral (12th to 16th centuries), the town hall, the François 1^{er} façade (in the courtyard of the town hall), the Raccolet house, the Burgundy and Samois gates (12th century) and the Priory of Pont Loup (12th century).

TO DO

Point Sisley, the Barley Sugar Museum, the Bicycle Museum, the Municipal Museum, the Art Gallery and during the summer period: outdoor cinema, canoe tours, bicycle tours, hot-air balloon flights and guided tours (with reservation).
